Webinar on March 26th: What's new in the IBM Social Business Toolkit SDK at 10:00 AM EDT
IBM Social Business Toolkit | moments ago | App Dev - Social Business Toolkit
The daylight savings have caused some confusion again. We'll do our webinar tomorrow (March 26th) at 10:00 AM EDT.

Social Recruiting Solution integrated in IBM Connections
IBM Social Business Toolkit | moments ago | App Dev - Social Business Toolkit
Reppify provides a social recruiting solution that helps companies find talent using the connections of their employees. The video below shows how Reppify Talent is integrated in IBM Connections.

PATCHing a Document using Domino Data Service
Mark Roden | 37 minutes ago | App Dev - XPages
Talk about frustrating – in a week full of slow progress and CORS cross domain hell I found this little annoyance after hours of staring and curing – once again the power of trial and error triumphs over my stupidity again.

NotesIn9 140: SourceTree Deep Dive
David Leedy | 19 hours ago | App Dev - XPages
In this episode Paul Withers comes back on the show for a deeper look at using SourceTree and Git Flow. This comes from the session he did with Declan Lynch at IBM Connect. In that session they ran out of time so this should fill in some of the missing pieces that they didn't get to cover.

Responsibilities of Curators

- Curators need to add content on a regular basis and need to be able to dedicate time (at least five entries per month)
- For each entry these fields need to be defined ...
 - ▶ Authors
 - News entries have to have an author
 - Use the actual author's name, not the platform where the blog is hosted
 - For group blogs (e.g. openntf) use group name
 - If the author hasn't been defined yet, curators need to add him/her
 - Authors pictures must not be bigger than 10kb and need to have a minimal size of 64x64 px
 - ▶ Title
 - Titles must not repeat author names or include blog names
 - ▶ Abstracts
 - Abstracts shouldn't be longer than 2 – 4 sentences !
 - ▶ Entries need to be categorized

Responsibilities of Curators

- Curators can add entries via URL or feed monster
 - ▶ Adding entries that are not found via the feed monster are preferred !
 - ▶ Curators can use the bookmarklet to easily add URLs to Collaboration Today (watch the video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PYzZT-UgreA>)
 - ▶ To add blogs to the feed monster, send mail to Niklas (requires Notes access)

- Curators can define featured entries
 - ▶ Need to change featured entries on the home page regularly
 - ▶ Need to balance entries (e.g. not only four XPages entries under app dev)
 - ▶ Featured entries shouldn't be older than 3-4 weeks
 - ▶ There shouldn't be more than 10 featured entries

Content

- Only IBM Collaboration Solutions relevant content can be added
 - ▶ This includes everything directly related to ICS but also information which is relevant for ICS professionals
- Only high quality content can be added
 - ▶ Rule of thumb: Would this be covered by online magazines with a good reputation?
- The following content must NOT be added
 - ▶ Non-English articles
 - ▶ Blog entries about non-business related topics
 - ▶ News about competitive products
 - Unless compared fair/objectively with ICS products (e.g. by analysts)
- Handling of duplicates
 - ▶ Content that is older can be added, but only if there isn't already a news entry
 - ▶ If people blog links to other sites, only the sites should be added
 - Unless people write additional information or opinions
- Handling of news entries about commercial offerings
 - ▶ News entries covering commercial offerings are only allowed if relevant to ICS professionals, e.g. products announcements
 - ▶ Pure self promoting news are not allowed to be put on Collaboration Today
 - ▶ These entries need to be put in the "Community-Showcases" category

How to become a Curator

- Contact OpenNTF or use the contact page
<http://collaborationtoday.info/contact.xsp>
- After OpenNTF has assigned access you'll be able to access the curation pages using your OpenNTF credentials
 - ▶ Log in: <http://collaborationtoday.info/login>
